"Now I'm the Picture of Health," Says Lady After Taking CARDUI

Here is how Cardui helped an Alabama lady. "I suffered from pains in my back and sides," writes Mrs. A. O. Gray, of Gauseville, Ala. "I was so thin and weak, I read of Cardui and decided to take it. I noticed at once it was helping me. I kept taking Cardui until I had finished five bottles. I feel now like the picture of health. My color is good and my weight increased."

Thousands of "weak" ladies Cardui benefited. If it does not do "YOU," physicians

FARM FACTS AND FANCIES

A study of problems now confronting the AAA is to be made at the request of the federal administration by a group of specialists of the Virginia agricultural experiment station. The purpose is to find out what can be done to improve and strengthen the position of agriculture.

Rain May Damage

Even though the spring rains have put Virginia soil back to a condition of adequate reserve supplies of moisture for the first time since 1929, specialists in the agriculture department at V. P. I. fear the unusual rainfall may do more harm than good. They say the weather is not only delaying spray applications in orchards, but is likely to cause severe infestations of insects and diseases.

On the other hand, the rains so far, except for deluging plowing and early seeding, have been beneficial. Permanent pasture, hay, forage and other crops needed last fall and winter, and trees, many of which have not yet recovered from the 1930 drought, have a brighter future this season than at any time in the last six years. It is the wet weather is over by the middle of April, it is believed the benefits of farming in general. Some experts claim that these spring downpours will bring from one to two million dollars to this state alone.

Beware of Poor Seed

The United States department of agriculture says that, on a scale, inferior to the domestic variety, seed dealers who offer the Manchurian variety of soybean are likely to be deceived. The Manchurian variety is a variety of soybean which is inferior to the domestic variety. It is well known that the Manchurian variety is a variety of soybean which is inferior to the domestic variety.

Sulphur for Weeds

It is said, but this awaits further proof, that dilute sulphuric acid is a good weed killer if properly used. Experiments have been conducted in Europe with an average of 35 per cent destruction of weeds. The reports say nothing about the crop being damaged.

Spiritual Recovery
By Rev. W. M. Thompson

Every possible thing is being done by the government, it would seem, to help our people back to prosperity. Yet not only individuals but groups, and almost every institution and organization, except the churches, are almost entirely silent in their efforts to help our people back to prosperity. This is not a plea for government assistance, but a plea for the churches to do their part. The churches and kindred organizations have felt the effects of the depression, and the time has come when something must be done for them. It is to do it? There is but one answer to that question and that is this: they are being helped by the government. "Must" is not used in the sense of compulsion. There is no way to make people help the church, and no sensible person would employ force in religion. On the other hand we are morally obligated to help them. And how shall we help them? They need financial assistance and all thoughtful and meaning people will give it as they are able. Moreover, to help people will endeavor to help them to do something for the church. They will work a little harder, they will give a little more, they will do something, make some sacrifice in order that they may help. For what the churches need most is MORALE, and we can best give that by attending them when their doors are open for worship. Let's all go to church, the church of our choice next Sunday and thereby bring about spiritual recovery as well as financial recovery.
